Burning Of Knox Trotting Park Grandstand
Caused a Sensation Last Night

Fire which is supposed to have been of incendiary origin early last night destroyed the grandstand at Knox Trotting Park and the adjoining building used as a ladies rest room.

The wooden structures burned very rapidly, lighting up the southern sky to such an extent that a conflagration appeared to be in progress at Thomaston and hundreds of cars were immediately racing to the scene, everybody indulging in wild guesses as to what was being destroyed. The New County road, in the neighborhood of the Trotting Park, was soon congested, and cars could be seen coming from all directions. A steady downpour added to the confusion.

The Thomaston and Rockland departments responded, but the grandstand was doomed long before their arrival, and the efforts of the firemen were bent toward saving the neighboring properties, included among which were stables occupied by valuable racehorses.

It was a rude awakening for M. Frank Donahue owner of the Trotting Park and its equipment. He was upon the point of retiring when told that the fire was on his property. He told The Courier-Gazette reporter that the grandstand was built in 1928 at a cost of about $5500 and that at the time of the conflagration it contained 500 chairs. The building known as the "ladies rest room" was valued at about $600.

The losses were only partly covered by insurance.

The Trotting Park has not been in use for racing purposes since 1936, but Mr. Donahue told the proprietor that the preliminary plans were being made for a big race meet.

Mr. Donahue and several horsemen were in the Park as late as 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and everything appeared all right at the time. The owner is somewhat mystified by the statement of Chief Engineer Edwin A. Anderson of the Thomaston Fire Department who told him last night that some boys had said the fire had been burning "a long time."

Mr. Donahue said that the grandstand had frequently been visited by vandals, who left evidences of their occupancy. The front of the structure was boarded in at a cost of $700, but in spite of these precautions breaks had frequently been made there.

Whether the fire was started accidentally or "set" is anybody's guess, but the destruction of the property will occasion no small regret on the part of those who had occupied the 500 seats on many interesting occasions.

Whether the grandstand will be rebuilt is a matter of conjecture. This morning the old one is simply a mass of smoldering ashes.

Charged With Murder

Lenwood Layr, Native Of Union, Held For Alleged
Strangling of Wife

Giving himself up at police headquarters, in Springfield, Mass., Lenwood Allen Layr, 26-year-old machinist, was booked last night on a charge of murder after police said he reported strangling his young wife with his "bare hands."

Her fully-clothed body was found in a bedroom closet in their home, a sweater about her neck and a deep gash in the throat.

Chief of Detectives Raymond P. Gallagher said that Layr told him the "only reason" he could give for the attack was that "we were constantly quarreling over domestic matters."

Layr, the detective said, was "calm but grim" as he entered the police station, and told him he had just murdered his wife Pauline, 24, and asked to be "locked up."

Gallagher said that the young machinist told him that he was affected by a "sudden impulse," and after strangling her, tossed her into a bedroom closet and then stabbed her with a hunting knife.

The couple were married in Lebanon, N. Y., in 1937 and had lived in this city seven months. Gallagher said that Layr was a native of Union, Me.

Emerson Sadler, engineering officer of Portland Lightship, is home on a 20-day furlough.

STILL HOPE FOR GRANITE

There is still hope that some Maine granite may find its way into the new War Department building at Washington, D. C., thanks to the untiring efforts of Representative Margaret Chase Smith, who is leaving no stone unturned (especially granite) that Washington officialdom may see the necessity of employing this unsurpassed building material. Grounds for hope in the matter are contained in the following letter which Representative Smith has just received from Clarence Renshaw, Major Q.M.C., constructing quartermaster:

General Somervell has asked me to reply to your letter concerning the use of Maine granite in the War Department Building. Whereas the plan of the wall sections has already been decided by the President and no granite is called for, nevertheless it is anticipated that some granite will be used in the exterior steps and approaches. When the specifications for this work are prepared, they will be on a basis on which all suitable granite may be equally considered.

WAR FROM THE AIR

That Uncle Sam has come to a full realization of the value and necessity of a competent air force is evident from the announcement of Secretary Stimson that the War Department plans to have 400,000 flying cadets and enlisted men by the end of next June, nearly tripling the present strength. It is even likely that subsequent expansion may possibly bring the number to half a million. It requires no great military strategy to know that if this country is going to face a German invasion it is almost certain to come from the skies.

MAY OPPOSE SEWALL

Maine voters, Republicans and Democrats, are regarding more or less seriously the reports which indicate that Gov. Sewall may have opposition in the June Primaries from Col. William N. Campbell of Sanford—a hybrid politician from the Southland, who was an ardent supporter of Gov. Brann, and has since been enrolled as a Republican. Failure to defeat Gov. Sewall in the primaries, Col. Campbell—the rumor continues—may run as an independent Republican-Democrat in the State election. The whole proposition may be merely talk, or what is more to the point, it may be merely the wish that is father to the thought for Gov. Sewall has trod upon a considerable number of toes, and toes are very sensitive portions of the anatomy political. But it all indicates that the Primary election is not too far in the offing, and that the political atmosphere will soon be filled with all sorts of stories. It has been ever thus since the political system was inaugurated.

THIS MAN LA GUARDIA

It should have surprised nobody when President Roosevelt came out with unqualified support of Mayor LaGuardia, although the New York executive is opposed by a straight Democratic candidate. LaGuardia has twice cast his lot with Roosevelt while riding into power under a Republican flag. We wouldn't have a great deal of sympathy with the LaGuardia cause were it not for the apparent belief of many persons, both in and out of Greater New York, that he has given the Nation's metropolis the cleanest administration it has ever had—whatever that may be.

ORATORY IN VAIN

We shall read for some days to come of oratorical efforts in Congress to repeal or preserve the Nation's neutrality law. It will probably be effort wasted as far as the isolationists are concerned for a clear majority is seen in both branches for at least the granting of authority to arm American merchant ships and permit them to enter belligerent ports. After all it seems as if this Congressional Record foud could be summed up in four words: We must do something.

WILLKIE TAKES THE BALL
(Christian Science Monitor)

Franklin Roosevelt, careful not to get ahead of public opinion, finds himself behind Wendell Willkie. When in his recent message to Congress on the Neutrality Act he placed the emphasis on repeal of Section 6, to permit the arming of merchantmen, the "quarterback" mumbled the signals and fumbled the ball of leadership. Mr. Willkie, who has not been too comfortable as a follower of Presidential foreign policy, quickly picked it up by advocating outright repeal and enlisting distinguished, nation-wide support for repeal among Republicans.

Now the White House is saying that "careful reading" of the President's message will show that he was for repeal all along. The message did point to the crippling effect of Section 2, which bars American ships from belligerent ports. Moreover, it is only fair to say that Mr. Roosevelt's whole grasp of the world situation argues that he wanted outright repeal. But if one also reads the newspapers for the previous two weeks he sees that the question of repeal versus revision had been thoroughly bruited and the President had held up some days his own choice. As it appeared in his message it was for revision, or for making changes by two steps, first arming ships, then giving "early consideration" to the question of combat zones. Despite explanations, the President must appear as a "follower" of repeal.

Aside from the enervating aspect of party rivalries, who gets ahead of whom is relatively unimportant in the present time of crisis. The important thing is to have active, courageous leadership. If the Republicans are alert enough and big enough they can find other opportunities. The lag in defense production, the failure to check strikes and stop profiteering offers them a splendid opportunity to revive their party and, more important, to serve the Nation.

"Fun for all—all for charity" has been adopted as the slogan for the affair and every effort is being made to guarantee a royal good time for all who attend. Costume or not as one prefers. The more costumes the more colorful the big affair will be.

Norman Lambert's celebrated Country Club Orchestra will provide music with old fashioned as well as new dances scheduled from 8 until 12. The public is not only invited but is urged to come, not only for its own sake, for it will be a grand party, but also because the entire net proceeds will be devoted to the highly deserving charities.

SUNDAY'S AUTO TRAGEDY

Collision At West Rockport Four Corners
Results In Four Deaths—Others Are On the Danger List

—By Staff Photographer.

Upper picture—The Cadillac sedan owned by Mrs. Clara Follett which was involved in an accident at West Rockport four corners Sunday afternoon. The car is damaged beyond repair from the impact and rolling over and is shown where it came to rest on Route 17 several yards beyond the intersection.

Lower picture—The Ford station wagon which was in collision with the Follett car. This picture was taken facing toward Union on Route 17. Joseph L. Kirk of Bar Harbor, standing beside the station wagon, wearing a felt hat, is shown watching the removal of his baggage from the wreckage of the car which he had been driving.

LATEST: Mrs. Follett died this morning shortly before The Courier-Gazette went to press. The condition of the other two patients who have been on the danger list since the accident remains unchanged according to the latest word from the hospital this morning, but is very serious.

Russell Nash, 24, driver of the Follett car, died at 11:55 this morning. Walter Rice recovered sufficiently to tell the officials that he was looking straight ahead just before the crash, and it was his opinion

Meanwhile on the danger list were:

Walter Rice of Somerville, Mass., fractured skull.

Blood transfusion was asked for at the hospital yesterday, and the man who responded was Patrolman Frank C. Bridges.

Less seriously injured were Mrs. Boynton S. Shadle of 36 Camden street, who suffered a fracture of the right leg and right shoulder; Joseph L. Kirk, who sustained cuts on the arm and neck; and George Salisbury of Bar Harbor, who had a broken rib, and injured ribs.

Kirk's story, as told to the investigating State Troopers Ray Foley and Stanley Poland, and County Attorney Stuart C. Burgess, was that he left Bar Harbor in company with Salisbury, also a resident of that town, the latter driving the car as far as Belfast, where Kirk took over.

Meantime they had taken on board at Bucksport Walter Rice, who was bound for Somerville, Mass.; and Privates Harry Miller of Belfast and John Fortier of Houlton, members of Battery D, 240th C.A.C., Port McKinley. The three men who were being given a "lift" sat on the rear seat.

Kirk was a stranger in this locality and was told by the soldiers how a short cut could be made through Rockport, then crossing turning over on their sides. One woman was thrown from the sedan a considerable distance.

Alarmed neighbors hurrying to the scene were confronted by a terrible sight, and early arrivals saw five forms stretched on the green-sward near the building occupied by the State of Maine Blueberry Growers' Association.

A thin wreath of smoke curling from the sedan offered the threat of a conflagration and fire extinguishers were hastily brought, though fortunately there was no necessity for their use.

The rescue party worked so speedily and efficiently that there was soon assembled four ambulances—two from the Burpee Furniture Company, driven by Alden Ulmer and Arthur Andrews; the Russell ambulance, driven by A. F. Russell; and the Camden Fire Department's ambulance in charge of Chief Allen F. Payson.

Dr. Paul Jones of Union happened to be near the scene of the accident, and was quickly joined by Dr. H. J. Weisman and Dr. Gilmore W. Soule of Rockland.

The State Police Department was represented by Troopers Foley and Poland, while the difficult task of handling the traffic jam was expertly handled by Deputy Sheriff R. A. Webster, who was early on the scene. Mr. and Mrs. E. Stewart Orbeton, whose home is within a few rods of the four corners, lent valuable assistance, especially Mrs. Orbeton, who had long experience as trained nurse.

Salisbury, a former Bar Harbor High School athlete, who has played several times in this city, was dis-

The Black Cat

(By The Roving Reporter)

Senator Brewster of Maine wants the Army to bake yellow-eyed beans. Did anybody speak up for Kentucky Wonders or Hingham Beauties?—Ed Pointer in the Boston Globe.

And you don't mean to tell us that Ralph forgot to mention brownbread!

Women will be interested to know that two hundred millions are necessary to keep American knitting machines in operation. Needles, carpets and bare feet, there's a combination familiar to some persons.

The Department of Commerce says that a soldier requires about half a bale of cotton a year. New article of diet?

One thousand farmers in the Province of Ontario raise silver foxes. Quite a few Maine farmers have sad recollections of the time when they sought to acquire sudden wealth through that industry.

Apologies of my Lake View story Fred C. Green, Mayor Tobin's secretary, writes:

"Those old Injuns who gave the names to so many Maine lakes and spots must have gone strong for Schoodic, for there is the lake near Milo, Schoodic Point which I am boosting and, nearby, towering Schoodic Mountain, in the town of Franklin, and which, from the westward, can be distinguished at sunset by the reflection from the glass sides of the fire guard station on its summit. Schoodic Nubble is probably one of the foothills of that grim old mountain.

"If time on that trip I also recommend a visit to Molasses Pond, which is in Eastbrook, between West Franklin and Walham. As I recall it, the road from either side comes in over high ridges and dips down in a hairpin to the pond, which is large and has sandy shores here and there that gleam in the sun. Might make some comment on the taste (sic) of those who named those bodies of water—Molasses Pond,

Rum Pond, Toddy Pond and, for all I know, a Whiskey pond somewhere in the State. Never heard of Beer or Gin ponds but perhaps they exist. Toddy Pond is really Chain Lake, a beautiful and irregular body between Orland and Ellsworth—12 or 15 miles in length, and that Alamoosuk Lake in Orland, which is down amid the hills and approached through fields, has some of the most beautiful Summer homes around its shores that one can find. It takes a fisherman to know the lakes, eh?

"There is one other spot which would make a dandy Rover—that is the old copper mine at Blue Hill, last worked during the first World War."

Mrs. Henry Pendleton, Hosmer Pond road, Camden, picked two quarts of blueberries Oct. 24 and the next day the fields were covered with snow. Still further variety might be injected into the incident by remarking that yesterday (two days later) we were back in the midst of sure-enough Summer.

Fred Fernald rummaging among old papers the other day came across a copy of "The Tea Cup," published in Boston in 1888. It was a small 4-page affair devoted almost wholly to miscellany, if I except the column advertisement of C. P. Pessenden who conducted a druggist and apothecary store at 5 Kimball block. —Mr. Fernald also presented me with a time-worn copy of the Rockland Gazette dated Feb. 9, 1866. I am afraid today's readers would scarcely be content with the newspapers published in that period.

One year ago: Joshua N. Southard was appointed overseer of the poor.—The Mike Armata three-tenement on Maverick and Front streets was badly damaged by fire. —Deaths: Mrs. John E. Conary, 87, Rockland; Joseph H. Farwell, 60, Unity (formerly of Rockland); Mrs. Charles D. Lindsey, 71, Rockland.—Miss Lottie H. Ewell, retired as postmistress at Rockville.—The Northend had a new merchant in the person of Edwin Jones, dealer in electrical supplies.

charged from the hospital as soon as his broken rib had been strapped and he had been ex-rayed. He told a Courier-Gazette reporter that he remembered nothing of the accident until he found himself pinned under the wheel of the station wagon. He insisted on going on to the home of a sister in Massachusetts, although urged strongly by Bar Harbor friends to return home. The troopers had told him he could go, and he made it very plain that he was going.

Kirk was held in the sum of $1000 on a charge of reckless driving, and will have his hearing next Monday, time being given for the assembling of witnesses.

OLD OCTOBER

Old October's purt' high gone,
And the frosts is comin' on—
Little heavier every day—
Like our hearts, settin' by
Leaves is changin' overhead
Back from green to gray and red.
Brown and yellow, with their stems
Loosenin' on the oaks and elms;
Gittin' balder every breeze—
Like the heads were scatchin' on!
Old October's purt' high gone.
I love Old October so!
I can't bear to see her go—
Seems to me like losin' some Old-home relative or chum—
'Pears like some settin' by
Some old friend 'at sigh by sigh
Was a-passin' out o' sight
Into everlastin' night!
Hickernuts a feller hears
Rattlin' down is more like tears
Drappin' on the leaves below—
I love Old October so!
Can't tell what it is about
Old October knocks me out!
I sleep well enough at night—
And the blindest appetite
Ever mortal man possessed—
Last thing it, it tastes the best!
Warnuts, butternuts, pawpaws,
Lies and humbers up my laws
For real service, such as new
Pork, spawdles, and sausage, too—
Yit, fer all, they's somepin' 'bout
Old October knocks me out!

Book Review

(By K. S. F.)

The Fighting Littles (a novel), author, Booth Tarkington, publishers Doubleday Doran & Company, New York.

One hark's back to the Perrod years of pleasure, that delighted and filled the mind with other days and experiences when reading this book. Yet when we get into this abstruse family of quarreling Littles we realize that self-determination in the youth of today may go a bit too far. With a father, who up to a certain period in his life, had been the most kind, and doting possible, but now, age, business tightening to worries, family growing into demanding individuals, with a rather down-pillow minded wife who was never any help, a "meddlesome Mattie" relative that was sure to enter at the wrong time. With one daughter aged 18, and quite the modern society happy-go-lucky pattern, and with a smug young son of almost 15 and feeling quite a man in experiences, this indulgent and sterling father takes on a set of his own coinage of expletives that should be called genuine swearing but faithful to truth, were not. However, when Dad's irascibility became too up and up, these self-coined words were his one and only help. To say they were unique is mild praise.

The book gives the picture of a home life where harmony is upset by the most extraordinary and continuous happenings to both brother and sister which cause the reader to hold his breath one minute and be full up with laughter the next. Wild life with Goody's suitors wrecking the family motor cars, and with night clubs jazzy parties with son Felmer's reaching for dignity and rank.

His adventures in love and life all are wild escapades, and last but not the least of poor Mr. Little's troubles is a Southern girl friend's visit. With complicated charms and devilishness she plans a motor trip to Maine and by her adroitness the journey is started. Read this last epic from Mr. Tarkington's pen, and have a good laugh. It's a panacea for gloomy war minded America and for a few hours delight.

Our Beautiful Hills

Snowsqualls and Autumn Foliage Share Glory Of Tea Party On Clarry

Out for a ride, with tea by the side of the road, was the idea. Thoughtful friends planned it, and not the weather. First a bit of sleet storm, soon over, and out popped the sun. It was not too cold, and not so hot.

The country was still full of beauty and with loaded basket were away. Two older ladies on the back seat tucked in for extra warmth, and two lovely younger ladies in front, started for what The Courier-Gazette's Roving Reporter calls the finest views in Maine.

On the way to Union another cloud let loose a heavier but beautiful five minutes of snowfall, and again out came the sunshine for possibly one-half hour. Just long enough to make a call at Ray Thurston's apple farm and get some excellent Porters and Gravensteins.

Then away again and into another of the most beautiful snow squalls from a fleeting cloud bank overhead. Again over, with possibly one minute added to five.

Driving in the woods road we were spellbound with the Fairyland we encountered. The road looked like an elongated hall of a Crystal Palace, decorated with every known shape and kind of lovely stalactite, and sprinkled with diamond dust was every twig, leaf and seed pod. Also beautiful in silver splendor were the stately trees, still with some color.

A bit of sunshine penetrated this theatre of grandeur and threw rainbow tints into the jeweled beauty of the magic loveliness.

Out into the open again, a view met our eyes that gave truth to the "R. R.'s" words of its marvelous stretch of loveliness. Mountain peaks on either side and lakes and valleys between Winter on one range with everything covered with snow. While on the other side hills and valleys were October at her best in bronzed beauty, and had not been touched by the white blanket of Winter.

And now for the tea—hot from the thermos; delectable sandwiches, cheesy crackers, and Mother Doe's more than delicious jelly roll. Oh! how good it was, and worthy of the splendor of the afternoon.

Clarry Hill and Gleason Hill should have more press notices if beauty of scenery is wished by motorists. Maine, the beautiful, year in, year out.

Honey Apple Dumplings

Homey, old-fashioned dessert — everybody's favorite

• When it's apple time, and honey time—then it's Honey Apple Dumpling time. Like "ham and onion" honey and apples just naturally go together!

Honey for the sweetening adds delicious new flavor to tart apples. Honey in the mellow-rich sauce bakes into a beautiful glaze over flaky-crisp crust.

This "dumple dough" is a rich biscuit type, and it's delicate-tasting so that you get all the characteristic flavors of tart apples and fragrant honey. It's so important to use a purer shortening like Spry the flavor-saver.

Be sure to make some of your dumplings topsy-turvy—tuck the pastry underneath and prick the tops in a pattern.

"Honey, Honey Apple Dumplings today," the family will cheer! Here's a recipe for your file of Favorite and Famous Foods. Better clip it now.

HONEY APPLE DUMPLINGS
2 cups sifted flour 1 tablespoon butter
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder 6 tablespoons honey
1/2 teaspoon salt 1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 cup Spry 1/2 cup milk (about)
6 medium apples, 1/2 teaspoon salt
cored and pared
Sift flour with baking powder and salt. Cut in Spry fine. Add milk, mixing until soft dough is formed. Roll dough into rectangle, 12 x 18 inches. Cut into 6 squares.
Place an apple in each square. Fill centers with combined butter, honey, lemon juice and salt. Moisten edges of dough with cold water. Bring up four corners of dough to top of apple and press edges firmly together.
Place in 10 x 10 x 2-inch Spry-coated pan. For variation, place several dumplings upside down and prick tops. Serve with or without cream.

SAUCE
3/4 cup honey 2 tablespoons butter
1 1/2 cups water 2 tablespoons Spry
1/2 teaspoon salt
Boil honey, water, butter, Spry and salt together 5 minutes. Pour over apple dumplings and bake in hot oven (400° F.) 30 to 35 minutes.

Delegates Chosen

Mrs. H. P. Blodgett a Maine Representative To General Court In Washington

Daughters of Founders and Patriots of America held their annual meeting at the Worcester House, Hallowell, preceded by a luncheon at which covers were laid for 14. Mrs. Sumner Sewall was honor guest. The speaker was Miss Laura B. Sanborn of Augusta, past president of the Augusta Nature Club, who took for her subject, "The Bible as a Nature Book," which was greatly enjoyed by all present.

Delegate and alternates to the General Court to be held in Washington, D. C., in May were duly elected. Mrs. H. P. Blodgett of Rockland and Mrs. Frank Peck of West Auburn, president and vice president, respectively, go by virtue of their office. Mrs. Oscar Look of Jonesport, was named as a delegate. The alternates are, Mrs. Llewellyn Edwards of Baltimore, Maryland, Mrs. Oliver Hall, of Hampden, Mrs. Edward Mansfield 3d, of Jonesport, Mrs. Charles B. Rose, of Tenants Harbor, Mrs. Taylor B. Edes of Dexter, and Mrs. Horace B. Crosby of Portland.

The chapter voted a sum of money toward the restoration of historical papers, which is one of the objects of the Society.

The May meeting is to be held in Bangor.

Upon invitation of Mrs. Sewall members stopped at Blaine House for tea. Mrs. Blodgett poured, and was later presented with a bouquet of red rose buds which had been used to decorate the table in the historic old Battleship Maine silver soup tureen.

Members will wear costumes and there will be fortune telling and refreshments. Miss Fisher's patrol, consisting of Carolyn Chisholm, Barbara Fuller, Diane Cameron, Constance Barton and Earlene Perry, is in charge of the party.

Mrs. Seymour Cameron is in charge of the hike for Morning Glory Troop next Thursday weather permitting. Members will meet at Mrs. Cameron's home at 289 Broadway (corner Willow street) at 1:30 or at the Community Building at 1:20—with Mrs. Patricia Huntley. Scouts are asked to take written permission from their parents.

What do Defense Savings Bonds cost?

The cheapest costs $18.75. Others are offered for $37.50, $75, $375 and $750.

Why do Defense Savings Bonds sell for these odd amounts? Because these amounts, through the operation of compound interest, increase in ten years to the sums shown:

Cost	Value in 10 Years
$18.75	$37.50
$75	$375
$375	$750
$750	$1500
$1500	$3000
$3000	$6000
$6000	$12000

Rockland Lost

But Had Distinction of Making Season's Second Touchdown On Gardiner

Rockland High lost its fourth game of the season Saturday on a technicality, a rule that forbids a kicker to step off the field, which happened when Rockland had to kick out from the end zone and the kicker, in a blinding snow squall, stepped back over the end line of the field and gave Gardiner the two points that decided the game as both teams managed to collect a touchdown apiece and set a score of 8-6 in Gardiner's favor.

Rockland scored first, in the second quarter and held the Gardiner outfit scoreless until late in the third quarter when a passer came into the game for Gardiner and the pass from Moores to Hoyle struck pay dirt when Hoyle slipped and slid around Rockland tacklers to hang up the winning score for the Gardiner team.

The fourth quarter saw an inspired Rockland team play Gardiner off its feet, stopping its marches short, at one time allowing but three yards advance in four downs, only to see the pass that would have meant victory batted down by a Gardiner back that came from out of nowhere to intercept it.

Rockland still has a mighty good ball club when you stop and think that its score on Gardiner was the second time the latter's goal had been crossed this year and that it had been rated to take the Orange and Black for at least 40 points.

Kalloch, at center for Rockland, was responsible for his team's powerful defense. Weighing no more than a gust of wind, that kid was everywhere at once and stopped many a play which was bound for yardage.

When the game was over and the players were in the High School locker rooms, the Gardiner boys agreed that it was the hardest game they had played during the season. The Rockland boys, in turn, admitted they had been through the mill, but declared their opponents good sports and clean players.

Fred C. Allen potted the ball over the pay strip for Rockland. He is an exceedingly valuable player, and becoming more so each game. Cummings did an outstanding job at end, and the whole team extended itself to battle Gardiner to a standstill. The summary:

Community Bowlers

The surprise of surprises struck to Community Building alleys last night when the Old Timers measured the Snow shipbuilders to the tune of 3-2 with Richardson and Miller bowling high for the ancients.

Snows—McKinney, 272; Crockett, 257; Cole, 306; Willis, 265; Gathcomb, 264—total, 1364.

Old Timers—Miller, 277; Rusty Richardson, 279; French, 276; Benner, 266; Goodnow, 272—total, 1370.

As usual, the Post Office was top team in their match last night with the delegation from the Elks, winning with a 4-1 score. Looks as if the mail carriers were headed for another championship, although they haven't a thing to say on the matter. Rackliffe rolled high for his outfit and Harmon did the same job for the Elks.

Post Office—T. Perry, 265; McPlace, 237; Dudley, 262; D. Perry, 283; Rackliffe, 305—total, 1372.

Elks—Bickford, 264; Blake, 248; Harmon, 266; Marshall, 255; Roes, 250—total, 1283.

Eugene H. Burgess, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvard Burgess of Vinalhaven, has been transferred from Camp Croft, S. C. one of the army's four infantry replacement training centers, following completion of his 13 weeks training there. His new post is Fort Bragg, N. C. During his 13 weeks at Camp Croft he was assigned to Co. B, 33 Battalion, a rifle unit.

The Kents Hill Junior College has announced the honor roll, in which appears the name of Mona Ingraham of Camden.

William J. Daniello of 28 Walnut street, Rockland, has been promoted from private, last class, to corporal of Battery F, 240th C. A. Similar promotion comes to Merrill E. Morong of 9 Willow street, Rockland, in the Headquarters Battery of the 2d Battalion.

The Senior Y.P.C.U. met Sunday night in the Universalist vestry, with Robert Smallie in charge of devotionals, assisted by Miss Hazle Bohm, Douglas Cooper, David Newcombe and Milton Roberts, Miss Ruth Seabury, accompanist. Miss Ruth Seabury, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker, Frank A. Winslow of The Courier-Gazette, who gave a most interesting talk on "Climbing Skyward," which proved to be a trip to the summit of Mt. Washington; also included was his trip to the Thunder House, Pearl House at Orr's Island, and to the Game Farm at Gray, Maine, as well as the press conference and meeting with President Roosevelt this Summer. It is the sincere hope of all present that Mr. Winslow will soon speak again to this group. A short business meeting and committee conference followed with final plans being outlined for the forthcoming Halloween party which will be held at the Rockland High School gym, Friday evening at 8, at which the general public is invited. Guests at the meeting last evening included, Mrs. Herbert Kirk and two daughters, Celia and Louise and John A. Perry.—By the secretary.

The Junior Y.P.C.U. met Sunday night in the Universalist vestry, with Miss Glencie Butman, leader of the devotionals, and Mrs. Adelaide Lowe as accompanist. A short business meeting was followed by a story, read by Mrs. Lowe which was greatly enjoyed. Ronald Carver was a guest at this meeting. The Junior Y.P.C.U. will be guests of the Universalist Sunday School party, which will be held Friday evening from 7 to 9 in the vestry, with the Sunday School teachers and members from the Chapin Class chaperoning.

Canton Lafayette Auxiliary will hold a special meeting Wednesday at 7:30.

It is with regret that many persons will learn that feeding will be discontinued next Monday at The Dornanette which will thereafter be used as a bakery and ice cream parlor. It was the very strong demand for bread and bakery products that forced proprietor Christine Dorman to change over to a bakery. The Dornanette has been a pleasant social institution as well as a dining place.

LEGION'S MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

Knox and Lincoln County American Legion and Ladies' Auxiliary officials who met the Fairchild plane bearing department membership chairman Fred Rowell of Norway, at the Curtis Wright airport Sunday morning in the annual aerial membership roundup of the Department of Maine, American Legion, Winslow-Holbrook Post presented 178 membership cards, a gain of 17 over last year. Left to right: Commander Paul Smithwick of Richard R. Wells Post, Damariscotta; Mrs. Amelia Kinney, president of Winslow-Holbrook Auxiliary; Fred Rowell of Norway, department membership chairman; Mrs. Bernice Jackson, department district vice president American Legion Auxiliary; Austin Brewer, department vice president American Legion Auxiliary; Commander Ervin L. Curtis of Winslow-Holbrook Post; Commander Luther Goodman of Arroy-Head Post, Camden.

The annual roll call meeting of the W.C.T.U. will be held Friday at the First Baptist Church parlor. Members are privileged to invite a guest. Response to roll call will be by Scripture verse or quotation. The county president, Miss Margaret Crandon of Thomaston will make her official visit. Mrs. Clara Emery, chairman will present the program scheduled for the year and the new State membership plan. Mrs. Susie Lamb will give suggestions for relief work. Following the program, a social period will be enjoyed and refreshments served.

The S.S. Robin Wentley of the U. S. Maritime Commission spent one day on the Navy trial course off Rockland, Sunday. She is 500 feet in length and was built at the Sparrow Point, Md., yards of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Company. The one day trial was supervised by Capt. Joseph Kemp, veteran of hundreds of such runs for the government. Frank Hodge, manager of the yards where the ship was built, arrived in Rockland Saturday and went aboard ship for the trials as soon as she arrived Sunday morning. The ship will enter the service of the Robin Line and run to West African ports.

Wednesday night at 7:30 at Legion hall, Chief E. E. Russell of the Rockland Fire Department, will give a lecture on chemical gases to the Warden's Class which is being instructed by Mrs. Adah E. Roberts, who attended the Civilian Defense School at Farmington this Summer. The public is invited. This class so ably conducted by Mrs. Roberts, is sponsored by Winslow-Holbrook Unit No. 1 American Legion Auxiliary and will continue on with First Aid.

It is hoped the Rockland churches will be sending many of the local youths to the "Older Boys' Conference" at Waterville, Nov. 28, 29, and 30. There is plenty of time to plan this great event which to the youth of the State is a vital part of their education as future citizens of worth, to the city, the State and the Nation. The fact that there is no local Y.M.C.A. is no excuse for neglecting this excellent training and inspiration to youth.

John King of Auburn has been assigned to the local office of the Coca Cola Bottling Company as route salesman and is making his home with his family in the Rubenstein apartments on Park street.

Mrs. Mary Herrick died recently in New Bedford, Mass. Burial will be Wednesday at 2 p. m. from the Burpee funeral parlor. She is survived by her husband, Fred Herrick, a daughter, Mrs. Freda Murray and a son, Lawrence, both of New Bedford and two grandchildren.

The Canton Lafayette Auxiliary will hold a drill meeting tomorrow night to prepare for the inspection scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 5.

The McKinney-Rackliffe candlepin combination defeated B. Goggins and S. Goggins of Gardiner 2131 to 1841 at the Star alleys Saturday night, the totals being: McKinney, 1033; Rackliffe 1033; B. Goggins 911; S. Goggins 930. Rackliffe had high string—121.

Harry E. Wilbur, judge of probate, is moving next week to the Bank block where he will occupy the quarters formerly by Orne's Insurance Agency. And there will be seven lawyers quartered in that building.

Heard Miss Hannegan

Rockland Society For the Hard of Hearing Has Interesting Meeting

The afternoon meeting of the Rockland Society for the Hard of Hearing Thursday, held in observance of National Hearing Week, was largely attended by members and friends who came to greet Miss Eliza C. Hannegan of Portland, former vice president of the Eastern Zone and widely known for her pioneer work for the hard of hearing in Maine. Miss Hannegan was accompanied by Mrs. Joseph A. Wright, former president of the Portland Society.

In introducing the guests, Mrs. Gladys Thomas, president of the Rockland chapter, presented each with a corsage of roses. Miss Hannegan prefaced the lesson which she gave by a short talk, telling of her interest in the Rockland Society since its inception in 1929. She told of watching its growth, of her pride in its efforts to prompt a lip reading program and its progressiveness in encouraging audiometer tests and classes of lip reading in the schools.

The first part of Miss Hannegan's lesson was based on Mary Lyon, founder of Mt. Holyoke College. In sentences adapted to lip reading, she unfolded the interesting story of how Mary Lyon broke tradition by establishing the first college for women in the country; of how she met difficulties and criticism in her efforts to provide higher education for women; of how she went about the country soliciting contributions with her green velvet bag, her largest offering being $1000, her smallest six cents; and finally the goal was reached when Mt. Holyoke was open in 1837 with a class of 80; the following year the enrollment was 400. A game of proverbs, which furnished considerable merriment as alert minds competed in solving the answers, ended the practice session.

Mrs. Wright, speaking informally, told of her work as chairman of the Audiometer Committee of the Portland Society. She directs the engagements of the audiometer which is used in hearing tests through the state and which has been used in the Rockland schools several times. She spoke of the progress in the work and said that more and more school officials are recognizing the need of discovering incipient deafness and providing treatment for it in safeguarding the future of the boys and girls of today.

In closing, Mrs. Thomas presented Miss Hannegan an eagle pin, an emblem of defense in keeping with the National Hearing Week slogan, "Defend Hearing." In responding Miss Hannegan said, "The defense effort that America is making today must not stop at the training camp or the fleet at sea. The battle to make America strong must begin in our homes and in our schools by defending the health of each individual, and our part is to defend hearing-health."

Patriotic colors were carried out in National Hearing Week poster and stickers. Mrs. Nathan Witham had charge of the badges which were tied with the national colors.

In the evening, Mrs. Freeman Brown honored Miss Hannegan and Mrs. Wright at a dinner party with officers of the society as guests.

Flirting With Fame

Walter of Waldoboro Cites Fate of Those Who Commercialize It

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—We have listened with much interest to the Roving Reporter's lecture on "Flirting With Fame," and his word picture of those men who have risen to that pinnacle, or climbed there, reveals none who ever commercialized that fame. Our Savior was the most humble of any who ever was born of woman, yet we read that "he grew in stature and in favor with God and man."

The whole material world was before him to gain and a temporal throne awaited him for the asking; but not only did he refuse to commercialize his fame and power, but gave his life to liberate men from the thralldom of that element. Admiral Dewey won immortal fame by his victory over the Spanish fleet in Manila harbor, but his fame faded away in his attempt to run for President of the United States on a popularity plank.

Gen. Cronje won the admiration of the whole world by his long and strong resistance of the overbearing numbers of the British forces in the Boer war, but he commercialized his fame and went down into oblivion.

Charles A. Lindbergh, once the loved hero of the American people, has betrayed their confidence and forfeited his right to their affections by giving comfort to the enemy of all truth and righteousness—the Hitler element. And many other brilliant men have fallen by trusting for their life and happiness in false gods, like the flaming meteor, Fame.

On the other hand we have our Washington, Lincoln and other noble men who sacrificed and labored to make life's paths free and pleasant for others to walk therein. They now have a place in the Hall of Fame and in the hearts of their countrymen. It is refreshing to read about the Hollingsworth family refusing to commercialize the fame of their daughter, Pamela. We have read of like instances of people refusing to sell themselves for exhibition to a gaping public. And that element is what is holding the world together today, and thank the good Lord for them!

Chairman Rice Says

That Plans Are Complete For Volunteer Nurses' Aid Corps

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—I regret to say that an error of fact occurs in an article on page 6 of your issue of Oct. 25. The article is headed "Camden Defense Units," and the statement is, "Hospital Aid, plans not completed yet." This evidently refers to the Volunteer Nurses Aid Corps of the Knox County Chapter, American Red Cross. As a matter of fact, our plans have been entirely complete for some time, including specific plans for Camden. Your readers should not have failed to see the conspicuous notices displayed on your front page, on Oct. 14 and 18.

In spite of the complete co-operation given by your paper, and the strenuous efforts made by the Chapter to inform the public by other means, the response of volunteers has been meager. We can only give the opportunity. The course cannot be run for a mere handful of volunteers.

We hope that in the future, people at a public meeting will not commit themselves to statements that the Knox County Chapter is not entirely ready to carry out its duties, without verifying their facts in advance.

For The O'Haras

The Trawler Georgetown Launched At South Portland With Masculine Sponsor

The trawler Georgetown, was launched Saturday at South Portland. The 63-footer will be added to the O'Hara fleet which its owner said "will fish in Maine waters with Maine men as its crew." Two other trawlers, to bring the fleet to 10, are under construction at the yard.

Launched Sept. 29, the 84-foot Holly Cross made out to sea, headed for the fishing banks off Matinicus Island, shortly before the launching. Capt. Eloy I. Coffin of South Portland was in command.

Edmund C. Ingalls of Boston, an alumnus of Georgetown University and a friend of the O'Hara family, acted as sponsor for the Georgetown, the first man to act as such since launchings began. Mrs. O'Hara, the O'Hara children and women friends of the family had previously acted as sponsors.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. John Houlihan of Portland blessed the ship in the traditional manner. She will be commanded by Capt. Bernard Moran of Deer Isle, a long-time veteran of the sea.

It was the first time that Mrs. O'Hara and the children were not present at a launching, the family having left earlier for their Winter home at Palm Beach, Fla. Mr. O'Hara was to leave today to join them.

North Haven Soldier Gives Detailed Account Of Traveling By Convoy

(By Private S. H. Beverage, 3d Air Support Service Command.)

Our third camp was at Maxwell field near Montgomery, Ala. There are quite a few air fields near Montgomery; Craig Field, Maxwell Field, and Gunter Field, where another North Haven fellow, Keith Beverage, is stationed. We tried to find Keith but with not much luck, as it was off duty hours; However we did meet a buddy of his who tells us that Keith is well on his way to success and is now a crew chief with his assigned plane to take care of. This is an important and responsible job, as the care a ship receives on the ground determines its success in the air.

We wish we had longer to stop in Montgomery as we found it to be a very large and interesting city of great historic value, for here it was that Jeff Davis was inaugurated president of the Confederate States in 1861.

Montgomery is the capital, and here again the capital building itself stands on a hill overlooking the city. There is a broad street running from the capital edifice to a large square in the heart of the business district. This bears the name of Dexter avenue, and in its location compares with Washington's Pennsylvania avenue. Montgomery is like Birmingham in the heart of the coal and iron producing district which probably accounts for its size and prosperity. On the outskirts we passed through the largest colored district I have ever seen anywhere in the South.

Maxwell field is one of the South's older and well established army fields and is mostly used as a training field for new cadets. We camped there on the edge of the field and had the treat of having the use of one of the field's washrooms where Hot Water was available for showering and shaving. This was the first hot water we had since we stopped at the Harrisburg Air Depot last August on our second day out from Manchester. Boy, oh Boy! It sure was swell after almost two months of having only cold water! Again we slept on our cots, but this time we were not quite so lucky for about 4:30 a. m. we woke to find the wind blowing a gale and the rain starting. You can just bet we crawled out our cots and blankets. Down came the canvas sides of the trucks and out came the raincoats and mess kits, resulting in a rush to the chow line which soon retreated in the cover of the trucks as the rain increased, but soon ventured forth again and chow was eaten and camp cleared despite the inclement weather.

We pulled out of Montgomery in a drizzle which quit after a while, but the sky remained overcast. The land between Montgomery and our next destination, Atlanta was very hilly, and one could see for a long distance across valleys, mountains, and villages. It was my pleasure to

The Great Outdoors

Late News of the Nimrods—Statewide Pheasant Season Coming

As the deer season opened in six Maine counties Tuesday officials and nimrods had only one new important law change to contend with, i. e., the transportation of the kill to a registration station. Formerly it was compulsory for a nimrod to take his own deer to be registered but as a result of a change in the regulations it is now permissible to employ an agent to do the heavy work.

All one has to do is affix a tag bearing his name and address to the kill and send it along. The registration station will hold the deer at the owner's risk until he calls for it. Incidentally, there are approximately 510 registration stations in strategic locations all over the State.

Although it has been charged that the new transportation law opens way for illegal deer selling and possession, officials warn that another clause in the section makes the possessor of a deer killed by another equally liable to prosecution with the killer.

The entire State opens Nov. 1 for 30 days of slam bang action, but plenty of shooting will take place in the six open areas before then.

For the first time Maine will have a statewide pheasant season which runs from Nov. 1 to 14. The birds are getting to be very plentiful, especially in the southern and central areas and full bags are predicted. Probably one of the best reasons for this is the practice of the Fish and Game department in wintering thousands of birds for Spring releasing. More than 4,000 were carried through last winter and an equal number the year before. When released, the birds are mature and much better able to reproduce and to take care of themselves. The daily limit is two birds with a possession limit of two.

Ransome Kelley of Fairfield, who has an elaborate duck and goose shooting plant on Merrymeeting Bay, is an enthusiastic conservationist and each winter plants a large acreage of Winter rye for the birds to feed on during their northward migration. A farmer by business, Kelley raises a lot of crops in the Bay region and believes that the planting of the rye is a good farming as well as a good sporting practice. Incidentally, Kelley reports that there are still plenty of lesser Canadian and Canadian geese in the Bay and that the duck flights are coming in regularly.—By Dick Reed drive the pickup on this part of the trip and I sure got a kick out of it, for it was the most interesting part of the trip, as far as the terrain was concerned.

We were heading steadily north-east all the time now, so the weather was getting cooler all the time and the elevation was getting higher and higher all the time.

One of the most industrious looking towns we went through was West Point Ga. where the enormous West Point cotton mills are located. A lot of new public buildings, such as schools, indicated increased prosperity in the community since the coming of the new mills. That night we camped at Ft. McPherson just outside Atlanta, Ga. We pitched our pup tents for the night, had chow, and then went to town. We were interested to find some historic spots of Sherman's destruction of Atlanta as history, and "Gone with the Wind" described it but in the short time we had we didn't locate any.

Atlanta proper is a very modern city with a shopping district resembling that of New York. The main street, Peachtree street, runs the entire length of the city, but by no means is the only large street in the city.

UNCLE EPH'S WHOPPER

Iree's Friend Tells a Bar Story Which Has Some Outs About It

When A Jay See unsheathed his ink stained pen in defense of Iree and our mutual friend "Eph" I kicked up my ancient heels like a young, well, whatever animal it is that delights in heel kicking. Now, quoth I, Rae of Belfast will sound a retreat bugle and that is the last we will hear from that quarter. Not so, however! The note below is from, well read it.

"Mr. Iree Member; If I knew who A Jay See is and where to address him I would send this direct to him. When I read what he had printed in The Courier-Gazette about my Zeke and your old Eph my hair rose. He just the same as calls me a falsifier and I can prove that. I am nothing of the sort, any more than he is, anyway. You send him these verses I dashed off and it will prove the truth of my claim about Zeke."

If I can get Enemy No. 1 and No. 2 in the ring together perhaps they will both give tottering old Iree time to get a rubdown before they jump me again!

Now, my children quarrels are unseemly and I want to say to Rae of Belfast that A Jay See is an old and valued friend of mine and we are not mad at each other—we're only joshing!

He didn't call you a "falsifier". He simply disputes your claim that Eph is Zeke. I stand pat with him but think the controversy hardly rates a round table discussion on a nationwide radio hookup. However Rae of Belfast, your claim that the dog was a fox may be true. Your verse is clever and entertaining anyway.

Here is the Rae of Belfast poem: "A Jay See, you must be wrong for Zeke is famous in story and song! The yarn you told about the dog may get some youngsters all a-gog. But you can't fool me! I've heard it told about that liar, Zeke, of old. You surely got your animals mixed for it wasn't a dog but a fox, by hick. And your Islands, too, got mixed up well. I know those Islands, truth to tell. North Haven to the north does lay of Vinalhaven across the way. The fox was pulled apart, for sure. Half of him landed on each shore. That's why the people living there called it 'Fox Islands' thoroughfare. Dig out your records and look and look 'You'll find it different in the one called Rae that it didn't happen just this way!"

All right, Uncle Eph, I'll tell the one about the bear. Eph settled himself by the stove in Fred's store, filled his pipe, lit a match, favored us with a benign smile until the match burned his

Battery E Sergeant Gives Us a Fine Gossipy News Letter

Battery "E" 240th C. A. Fort Lyon, Me.

Time marches on and so does the Army. We are still Battery E, and are proud of it, and we still feel as though we can compete with any other Battery in the Harbor Defense. That is covering a lot of territory but nevertheless it's the truth.

Well, folks, it's been a long time since I wrote an article for The Courier-Gazette, but as I am in the office alone, I will tell you the news to date. To begin with, we have Lt. Cronkhite, formerly of Battery G, as Battery Commander and he is certainly doing a swell job. Lt. Dwyer formerly of Battery G, and Lt. Smythe of Peru, Indiana. We feel that they too are giving us all they have.

Now we start with the non-commissioned officers. Sergeant Charles D. Cole, formerly of Battery C, is doing a wonderful job as "topkick". Now we, will have to pick on Whitey Ames, who is our ranking sergeant; Whitey certainly isn't losing any weight since he came over here—even his suit that was too large for him when he left Rockland is too small for him now, obviously Whitey never misseschow call.

Who comes next, but Baby—or for the benefit of the readers back home he is Sergeant James McClure? Baby is one in a million, because if he can't have his milk for breakfast the day is started wrong for him. I think I come in right along here, but there are a lot of the other boys that I want to talk about besides myself. We have Sergeants (Johnny) Breen and (Charley) Barter whom are well liked by all members of the Battery for their excellent work. The Corporals I am going to mention are well known to all the folks back in Rockland, they are Corp. Favreau, Staples, Smith, and Nash. Corp. Nash tried to pull a fast one but The Courier-Gazette gave us the news! He was married and never told us anything about it. Congratulations Mrs. Nash, Elroy is a well guy and we are proud that he is with us.

I will try to give you more next week. Some of the folks back here have been giving me the devil because I wasn't doing any writing but we are pretty busy and don't have much time to do any of it. We want to thank Charley Lawry for the swell write-ups he's been giving us. (Thanks Charley we appreciate it very much).

We have a cook by the name of William E. Mason, from the State of Georgia and if you ever hear anyone talk about the (Rebel) cook at Fort Lyon, well that's he. He wants to tell the people of the North that he thinks they are swell. He is a swell cook and the boys are glad he is with us. "Save me Bull! Save me Bull!" was the cry heard from Corp. Philip Hoyt, and old faithful Bull "Sgt. Erwin F. Chase" with the assistance of Sgt. Wilson B. Ames swam out in the nearly ice-cold water and saved him from what might have been a watery grave. This incident will long be remembered by all members of Battery E.

Well so long folks and remember that I will do my best to get the news of Battery E in the paper more often.

Sgt. Carl L. Jacobson, Battery E 240th C. A. (H.D.), Fort Lyon, Me.

NORTH HAVEN

Mrs. Frank T. Calderwood left Friday for a visit with relatives in Portland and Massachusetts.

Ernest Demmons and family have moved from the Middle road to the Mills farm in the West District.

The power boat, Priscilla Jean, Capt. Clarence Howard arrived Sunday with 80 bushels of herring.

The name of Mrs. Isaac T. Leadbetter of Stockton Springs, who is a sister of the late Mrs. Christie Cooper, was unintentionally omitted from the obituary. Mrs. Leadbetter, "Aunt Matt," as she is affectionately known, is the only survivor of a family of 13 children.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Waterman and family spent Sunday as guests of relatives in Vinalhaven.

Mrs. Walter Parsons went Monday to Leominster, Mass., after a visit with relatives in town.

Perley Carver of Vinalhaven was in town Sunday.

The 14 firemen and their ladies enjoyed a lobster and chicken supper Thursday followed by a free dance, at the K. P. hall. This was made possible by a gift from Miss Alice Larkin in appreciation of services rendered at the recent fire at her Summer home.

Snakes are not deaf. Although they have no external ears, they receive sound impressions by means of their tongues.

HERRICK-KEATING

This article, which is taken from a Reading, Mass., paper, will be of interest to North Knox subscribers: "A largely attended wedding of local interest was solemnized on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the First Baptist Church when Miss Winnifred Jennie Keating, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond O. Keating of 22 Kingston street was united in marriage to Eugene Howard Herrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Herrick of Rangeley, Me.

"The single ring wedding service was performed by Rev. Raymond W. Cooper, pastor of the church.

"Glenn Wilcox of Hartford, Conn., was the best man, and Mrs. Willetta Hall of Rangeley, the matron of honor. Miss Thelma Ralston of Kingston street and Mrs. Florence Bosseimann of Needham were the bridesmaids. The ushers included Ralph Keating, the bride's brother, Donald E. Hall of Rangeley, Frank Conners of Portland, and Edward Berry of Farmington.

"The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory faille, en train. Her finger tip veil was fastened with a coronet of seed pearls and she carried white roses, white pom poms and baby's breath. The matron of honor wore a gown of raisin faille, and the bridesmaids, Pearly blue faille and all wore tiaras of leaves which held a short veil in place. They carried white gladioli.

"The musical program was presented by Wesley Robinson, organist of the church. The soloist, Miss Louise Jenkins sang "I Love You Truly" and "Oh Promise Me."

"In the church parlors a reception was held from 4:30 until 6:30 o'clock, when the bride and groom were assisted in receiving by their parents and the members of the bridal party. "The bride who is a graduate of Reading High School, Farmington Normal School and Boston University School of Education, is a teacher in Maine.

"The groom, a graduate of Rangeley High School, Farmington Normal School and Boston University School of Education is employed as a postal clerk.

"After a wedding trip to Canada they will reside in Rangeley.

UNION

The first snow came in a flurry Saturday and large flakes soon covered the ground. On some places on the hills the snow remained all day Sunday.

The Odd Fellows Lodge has been invited to visit Sheepscot Lodge next Tuesday night. Asylum Lodge will also be present and confer the first degree. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

The Methodist Church held a rummage sale at the library room Saturday and netted a considerable sum.

Mrs. Laura Daniels visited friends Thursday in East Union. Donald McEdwards is home from Knox Hospital and gaining slowly. Mrs. Emma Ryan has received word that her daughter-in-law Marion is in a hospital in Massachusetts very ill of pneumonia.

A First Aid Class will be started shortly under the direction of a competent instructor. All men and women as well as boys and girls are urged to register for the course. Several have already enrolled for the course. Additional information may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Lela Haskell, Red Cross chairman or Mrs. Marguerite Payson, Women's Defense Chairman. The exact date when classes are to start will be published in these columns.

Mr. and Mrs. Grevis Payson attended the play at Waldoboro, "You can Defend America" given by the players from Tallwood on Lake Maranacook. They report that no patriotic citizen can see it without feeling its inspiration.

At last someone has come along and said something about milk that women will sit up and listen to and we're properly pleased. The government has told us as a nation we needed to use more milk, the food experts exhorted earnestly, men began drinking more milk but women held back. "The figger" was involved.

Now comes Vogue in a current issue saying, "Milk is the greatest single beautifier in the whole wide world." That's an exact quote and doesn't it make you blink?

"Milk starts at the innermost skeleton of you and works outward to the last eyelash," Vogue goes on. "It builds up beautiful bones and teeth, strong nails, gleaming hair, and soft, smooth skin . . . no diet . . . there just aren't any exceptions . . . is really good instead at least a fifth part of that diet is made up of milk."

"Milk carries worth-their-weight-in-radium calcium and phosphorus to your bones and blood. It gives you whopping amounts of Vitamin G otherwise known as riboflavin . . . one of the important B complex group . . ."

"And milk is a tremendous source of Vitamin A, the list of whose functions reads like a beauty manual. It starts at your pores and works out; it keeps your skin from drying out and growing rough. It's an all-clear signal for your eyes. It affects your hair and nails and even your rosy color or lack thereof. It helps control your resistance to disease, especially colds."

After all that, it's probably an anti-climax for us to add the good chowders and cream soups, scallops, creamed meats and vegetables, and milk desserts are going to be mighty easy on your budget this fall as well as good eating, however we're putting in our five cents worth. Milk has been the unappreciated stepchild of the food world so long . . . Oh, yes, it is a good, you know . . . they were cheering mightily when Vogue puts in its telling "wallop" about beauty.

Chocolate Peppermint Tapioca—One egg yolk, 2 cups milk, 3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca, dash of Sterling salt, 1 egg white stiffly beaten, ½ cup crushed peppermint sticks.

Mix egg yolk with milk, then add tapioca and salt. Place over rapidly boiling water and heat until scalded, then cook about 5 minutes, stirring frequently. Cool slightly and fold in egg white and candy. Chill. Serve with chocolate sauce. Serves four.

Sausage Stuffing—(For chicken or turkey)—One pound Deerfoot pork sausage links, 12 cups bread cubes, 2 tablespoons minced onion, Sterling salt to taste, 1 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons minced parsley.

Cut sausage in thin slices. Saute and add other ingredients. Makes 12 cups. For 10 to 12 pound turkey. Whole Wheat Cereal Muffins—One-half cup Maltex cereal cooked, 1 cup Ceresota flour, ½ cup corn meal, ¾ cup milk, 1 egg, beaten, 1½ tablespoons Land o' Lakes butter, 4 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon Sterling salt.

Combine dry ingredients and sift. Add cooked cereal to milk; add beaten egg and melted butter. Combine the two mixtures, stirring only enough to mix thoroughly. Bake in greased muffin tins in oven 425 deg. F. 25 to 30 minutes. Yield: 12 muffins.

Cottage Cheese and Pineapple Mold—One envelope (1 tablespoon) Knox gelatin, ½ cup orange juice, 1½ cups cottage cheese, 1 cup pineapple (canned), 3 tablespoons lemon juice, ¼ cup chopped dates, ¼ cup raisins or currants, ½ to ¾ cup pineapple juice.

Soak gelatin 5 minutes in cold orange juice. Dissolve by placing

New Uniform

Miss Sally Bradley models the new uniform selected for 100,000 defense volunteers to be trained as Nurse's Aides by the American Red Cross. The training project, undertaken by the U. S. Office of Civilian Defense, is to relieve the acute shortage of nurses threatening civilian hospitals because of the demand for nurses by the forces.

"God grants liberty only to those who love it, and are always ready to guard and defend it . . ."

Liberty is something that we give too little thought to. We're apt to take Liberty for granted. We very often get that the privilege of reading and writing and saying and thinking and doing as we please is a God-given right—one that is ineffably valuable—one that we should love and be always ready to guard and defend.

The Courier-Gazette and the Free

Press of a Free America are as much guardians of our Liberty as are those boys who are training for the guardianship of it in camps throughout our country.

As long as America's Newspapers print the words and thoughts of America's free people, just so long will America's people be free. Your newspaper loves Liberty—it is prepared to guard and defend it.

The service at the Baptist Church Sunday morning was marked for its spirit unity surrounding an able sermon by Rev. Mr. Kilborn on "The Conference on the Shores of Galilee." The anthem "Memories of Galilee" (Morrison) was appropriately rendered by Mrs. Katherine F. Veazie with choir accompaniment which also accompanied Alfred M. Strout on "Seek Ye the Lord" (Roberts). Pink chrysanthemums were in evidence. Walter Chapman and Robert Clark served at offertory.

Mrs. Florence D. Cottam and Lieut. and Mrs. Robert D. Cottam of West Roxbury, Mass., were week-end guests of Mrs. Elmer Cottam.

Mrs. Dorothy Blair returned Saturday to Norridgewood after spending several days with Mrs. Horace Keizer.

Earl Cogan and Miss Leila Clark went Sunday to Otis to spend the day with Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lilly.

Mrs. Francis Tillson has returned home after accompanying her sister, Mrs. Harold Stevens, to Farmington for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Paulsen and son Paul, Jr., of Hingham, Mass., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Paulsen.

The Contract Club met Friday at Mrs. William T. Flint's with two tables. Mrs. William Boynton had high score and Mrs. Arthur Elliot second. The next meeting will be Friday at Mrs. Lizzie Levensaler's.

The special meeting of Orient Lodge, F.A.M., tonight will be preceded by supper at 6.30 served by members of Grace Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Knights entertained members of the Rock Club Saturday night. Prizes at rock were awarded Mrs. W. G. Maloney and Orvel P. Williams for high scores, and Mrs. Williams and Weston Young for low. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cole of Rockland, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Anderson, Mr. Maloney and Mrs. Young.

The name of Miss Anna Donahue was unintentionally omitted from the list of friends giving the surprise birthday party last Tuesday night for Miss Leila Clark.

Mrs. L. L. Mark of Waldoboro was guest Saturday of Mrs. Horace Keizer.

Miss Genevieve Bradlee and a friend, Walter Wilson, of Boston, spent the week-end at her home here. They were accompanied from Bath by Joseph Bradlee, who also was at home for the week-end.

The W.C.T.U. will meet tonight at the home of Miss Margaret Crandon.

Leon Simmons celebrated his 11th birthday Saturday with a "neighborhood party". A variety of games included pinning the tail on the Halloween cat, for which a prize was awarded. Charlene Spaulding, a kiss hunt, the prize going to John Davis, guessing marbles in a jar, won by Joan Young, putting clothes pins in a jar, won by Edward McLeellan. Decorations were in keeping with Halloween and each guest received a Halloween favor. Refreshments of sandwiches, cookies, birthday cake, punch and ice cream were served. Red Cross, OCD Look to Volunteers For Civil Defense

Washington, D. C.—To the question, "What can I do for America?" the Red Cross is providing an answer for hundreds of thousands of men and women who want to do their part on the civilian defense front.

For women, the Red Cross is providing an 80-hour training course to recruit a corps of 100,000 Nurse's Aides. It is the Red Cross' newest project, undertaken at the request of the U. S. Office of Civilian Defense to relieve the current pressure on nursing facilities.

With thousands of nurses being taken into military service with our armed forces, civilian nursing has suffered a direct blow, the Red Cross points out.

Red Cross Nurse's Aides will serve as assistants to registered nurses, performing scores of important duties which will enable nurses to care for more cases. The Red Cross stresses that Nurse's Aides will not take the place of the registered nurse, but will serve in an auxiliary capacity.

On the more dramatic side of civilian defense, the Red Cross is gearing its far-flung disaster fighting machine to handle mass feeding, housing and clothing of ex-cen-ters under wartime conditions. In cooperation with the Office of Civilian Defense, chapters are strengthening disaster relief committees to cope with man-made disaster much on the same scale as relief operations following natural catastrophe. Organization along these lines includes preparedness measures for fires, explosions and epidemics which may be expected to result from accelerated industrial activity incident to national defense.

Strictly as a precautionary measure, the Red Cross is devising means of confronting emergency relief in the event of sporadic air or sea attacks, considered conceivable hazards in some coastal and boundary areas.

The need for First Aid in civilian defense has not been neglected by the Red Cross. Last year nearly 600,000 were trained in emergency treatment of the injured. This year the figure is expected to go much higher with special emphasis being placed on the formation of detachments which would serve as units in factories, offices, schools and other places where persons are

Red Cross courses in Home Nursing and in Nutrition also are being expanded as a feature of the civilian defense program. It was pointed out that mounting health hazards and the shortage of civilian nurses at any time obligate the housewife—or even the man of the house—to assist in caring for the sick. Likewise, the Red Cross is placing greater emphasis on Nutrition courses designed to teach housewives the art of purchasing and preparing well-balanced meals within the range of the family pocketbook.

Mayflower's Voyage

To Be Presented in Bangor Wednesday Night By Symphony Orchestra

A feature number of the opening concert of the 46th season of the Bangor Symphony Orchestra tomorrow night in City Hall, is the first local performance of Paul White's "Voyage of the Mayflower."

Paul White is a native of Bangor and holder of an honorary doctorate from the University of Maine. He is a direct descendant from the first child born in the Mayflower colony in Plymouth, Peregrine White.

Many Bangor residents remember White's grandfather of the latter name, a well-known lawyer in that city. It is said that White conducted a thorough research of Mayflower data in preparation for his composition.

While the intent of the work is to indicate mood, the music is to some extent suggestive of circumstance, the embarking of the Pilgrim fathers from Leyden, a storm, a religious service, a death and burial at sea, another storm, the sighting of land, and the allusions of realized hope. The research revealed certain hymns that were sung by the voyagers. Three are sung by chorus in the composition, the final hymn being Old Hundred which is given a triumphal delivery serving to climax the composition.

The composition is modernistic in style, yet not of the radical, harsh, and ultra-experimental vein. It has dramatic intensity, and its whole atmosphere is genuinely inspirational. It has been performed widely by symphony orchestras, assisted by choral bodies. Stokowski has presented it several times with the Philadelphia Orchestra. The Bangor Symphony Orchestra has given a number of Paul White's works, some in their premiere performances.

This concert offers an opportunity for music lovers in this section. The drive to Bangor is not too long, and the effort will be repaid in the inspiration given by the orchestra, chorus and soloist, Zaruhi Elmassian, lyric soprano.

Top Ranking Senior

David Nichols, Graduate Of Camden High, Still Winning Honors

David Nichols, son of George Nichols, Lincolnville, is one of 20 top-ranking seniors at Bates College who will do honors work in their chosen major field during the coming year, according to a recent announcement. He is majoring in history and government.

To be eligible for honors work, that is, special work in the major subject, a senior must have maintained a general average of B throughout the previous three years and a better-than-B average in his major. Those who successfully complete the work receive their degrees cum laude, or if their work merits it, magna cum laude or summa cum laude.

Nichols graduated from Camden High in 1933 where he was active in debating. At Bates he has continued his interest in forensics and has been a member of the varsity squad since his freshman year and this year acts as manager for men.

Last year he was elected to membership in Delta Sigma Rho, national honorary debating society. He is vice president of the Publishing Association and has several times been named to the honors list.

In the middle of 1938, women outnumbered men by 1,161,000 in England and Wales.

STRAND THEATRE

WED., THURS., FRI., SAT.

When Bob Hope makes a bet of $10,000 that he can tell the truth for 24 hours, you can bet considerably more than the price of admission to this theatre, that what will follow will be high-speed, gag-glorious comedy.

Hope makes the wager in the new Paramount farce comedy, "Nothing But the Truth," which gambles into the Strand Theatre beginning Wednesday, co-starring Paulette Goddard, and featuring a comedy cast packed solid with favorite names, including Edward Arnold, Lief Erickson, Helen Vinson, Catharine Doucet, Glenn Anders, Grant Mitchell, Rose Hobart and Willie Best. An added recommendation is the fact that the new laugh opus was directed by Elliott Nugent, comedy-wise director of one of the two previous Hope-Goddard adventures into the laugh sphere, "The Cat and the Canary."

Right now Hope is just about tops in film comedy, following sock-succes-ses in such comedies as "Road to Singapore," "Road to Zanzibar" and "Caught in the Draft." His film following has been increasing by leaps and bounds with each new picture, until now his eminence as a comedian is almost undisputed. As for Paulette Goddard, that young lady has been shuttling back and forth between comedy and drama the past few seasons.

AMES-MARSTON WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. C. Maxwell Ames (Miss Ruth Helene Marston) who were married Sunday afternoon at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cheever Ames, Orange street.

Ruth Helene Marston, daughter of Maynard L. Marston and the late Kathleen (Ingraham) Marston, and C. Maxwell Ames, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cheever C. Ames of Orange street were married at the home of the groom's parents at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon by Rev. Dr. Guy Wilson of the Pratt Memorial M. E. Church, the double ring service being used. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The maid of honor was Miss Dorothy Sherman of Rockland, cousin of the bride. The best man was a brother of the groom, Bradford V. Ames. The ceremony was performed under an arch of hemlock decorated with a white wedding bell and yellow chrysanthemums and peach and white gladioli. Mrs. Charles D. Jilison played the wedding march from Lohengrin.

The bride was dressed in white satin with seed pearl trim and full length train. Her veil was full length with seed pearl coronet and she carried a cascade of white lilies and pink roses. The maid of honor was gown in cerise faille and the bridesmaids wore blush pink faille. Their bouquets were of variegated pinks, with cascade of smilax.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held, those assisting in receiving and serving were Mr. and Mrs. Cheever Ames, Mrs. E. B. Ingraham, Maynard L. Marston, the Misses Vera Thompson, June Ames and Marion Skinner.

Bride and groom attended Rockland High School and are members of the Methodist Church. Mrs. Ames is a member of Golden Rod Chapter, O.E.S. The bridegroom is employed at Todd-Bath Shipyard in South Portland in which city they will make their home following a wedding trip to an unannounced destination.

The going away costume of the bride was a wine and soldier blue mixture suit with brown accessories and bouquet of tulle and roses. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Nelson of Portland, Mr. and Mrs. Bertie Bickmore of Portland, Mrs. Stella Hart of Bath, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Joyce and son, Cedric of Camden.

Mrs. George H. Jackson and Mrs. Ella G. Beal have returned from Bangor where they were guests of Mrs. Jackson's daughter, Mrs. Thomas L. Carter.

Elder and Mrs. Louis J. Ostertag of Los Angeles, who have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Clark, 7 Achorn street, the past two weeks left Monday morning for their home. Oct. 19, the Clark family held a family reunion at the home of another daughter Mrs. Harold Jones in Clinton. This was the first time in 14 years that Mr. and Mrs. Clark and their four children, Madeline, George, Linnie and Betty had been all together. During that time they have all married. Madeline is now Mrs. Louis Ostertag of Los Angeles. Mr. and Mrs. George Clark and three children, Ronald, Evelyn and Sharon live in Portland. Linnie married Harold Jones. They have two children, Robert and Richard. Betty is now Mrs. George Davis of Belfast. They have a baby, Clive. Four of the grandchildren have been born since Mr. and Mrs. Ostertag made their last visit, 5 1/2 years ago.

Miss Thelma Thomas was the guest of friends and relatives in Belfast over the week-end.

Miss Kathleen Weed was a Portland visitor over the week-end.

Cornelis Tells Of European Conditions—Other Interesting Speakers

The Women's Educational Club met at the home of Mrs. Fred Linenkin for a profitable session Friday.

Miss Dorothy Lawry explained in detail her duties in connection with the Motor Defense Corps in this locality. As much depends upon the efficient operation of the defense set-up, it is necessary in order to qualify for this work to go through a severe course of training and pass a stiff examination. In addition, one must abide strictly by the rulings as to the number of hours to be devoted to this work, etc. The members of the corps must be women under 50 years of age. Every locality has persons responsible for its defense protection.

Training is given in order to enable the women to keep the transportation vehicles in good working condition at all times. People do not realize the possibility of this part of the country being an object of attack, she explained, and a gas attack would be of especial advantage here to the enemy, because of our unpreparedness for this form of warfare and the fact that the fog prevailing here would hold the gas.

E. J. Cornelis of Camden and New York spoke on the European situation. As he is a native of Belgium and has made several trips across, he is well qualified on this subject. In the conquered European countries he has many wealthy friends from whom he has received no word, so he has come to the conclusion that they have been killed and their wealth confiscated. One of the first things the Germans do when they take over a town is to seize all the bank accounts, then systematically take whatever else may be of use to them, he explained. With the organization which the Germans have all over the world, except in Russia, where they have been unable to place spies, it is an easier matter than one would think for them to establish themselves in a community, and men in a position to know have declared it possible for large bombers, of the type used by the Germans, to come over here with hundreds of tons of ammunition with the idea of bombing large centers and to unload some of their explosives wherever they happen to be, which is as likely to be here as elsewhere.

Explaining why it is more desirable to help the Russians than the Germans, he brought out that Stalin did not wish to conquer the world, like Hitler, but desired to make Communism so attractive to the outside world that they would wish to adopt it.

Certain members of Congress who are advocating peace during these like these should have scant backing, he thinks, and at the conclusion of his talk he started a petition for the repeal of the Neutrality Act to be signed by interested club members and sent to Representative Margaret Chase Smith.

The discussion which followed brought out a few strong advocates for peace, with more favoring a definitely belligerent attitude, both sides having Scriptural quotations to back their assertions.

The evening session opened with these three key women present: Mrs. Mary Perry Rich, Mrs. Cora Haraden and Mrs. Jeannette Dunton.

The devotional and patriotic exercises were given with the following leaders: "Lord's Prayer," Mrs. Letitia Starrett; "Preamble to the Constitution," Mrs. Zaide Winslow; "The American's Creed," Mrs. Nettie Stewart; "The Gettysburg Address," Mrs. Ellen Daly; and the "Salute to the Flag," Mrs. Helen Gregory.

A discussion was held in regard to the topics to be studied the coming winter.

Wilbur Senter then showed most attractive colored views of his trip across the continent. These pictures included Boulder Dam, the Southwest, and a beautiful display of fruits and flowers in California.

The next meeting is to be announced.

The Rubinstein Club score tops in a remarkable high order of entertainment on Friday evening last when they were hosts to the District members of the Maine Music Clubs. With the evening opening with a delicious supper and a musical program that had beauty, brilliancy and glory of execution, and with addresses holding the closest attention for every word they gave of the greatest of all arts, and what music means to the world. Persons who do not know facts about these clubs should awaken to the influence they bear on the moral and the better things of life. The President and Board of Directors are to be congratulated.

In 1777 North Carolina State employees were paid $25 if they brought in a Cherokee Indian scalp, and $37.50 if they brought in the whole Indian. Private citizens were paid $100 and $125 for the same items.

In this time of national emergency, your country needs your help and not your unstudied criticism.

The dog is the oldest friend man has among the animals. His bones are found with those of primitive man of very remote times.

Grandma and her young grandson were riding on a train. Grandma had dozed and suddenly she sat up. "What was the station the conductor called?" she asked the boy. "He didn't announce any station; he just put his head in the door and sneezed."

"Get the bundles together quickly," said Grandma. "This is Oshkosh."

Every loyal citizen should join the Red Cross. That dollar will go a long way in helping share responsibilities for a better world. The co-operative program that the Red Cross has launched to train 100,000 nurse aids will not only help in this war, it will help for many years future mothers.

Save fuel by careful management of your heat. Keep your house warm but not hot. That will help in health.

Never have I seen the red berries more plentiful, more perfect and larger than this year. Partridge berries black thorn and rose berries are heavy crops, all brilliant. Do they like dry weather? Is this to be a cold winter that has been stocked early with food for the birds that stay here?

A new smokeless and flashless gun powder which does not get moist in damp weather has been patented.

A little friend of this writer told her mother that a school boy playmate came to her and asked if she would be his best girl friend. And then he asked her if a boy had ever kissed her and she said, "No, and if you think you are going to, I'll sweat you one!"

Two Chicago women, visiting New Orleans, saw their first Spanish moss. They could not imagine what it was. They pulled some off the trees and discussed it at length and finally one concluded the conversation by saying: "It must be some of that Mardi Gras we've read about."

There has been sent to me by the compiler, Charles A. Robinson, of East Orange, N. J. a charming booklet called "God's Loveliest Creations—A Child and a Flower." The author has taken great care and used excellent and restrained judgment in his selections for this comprehensive and choice treasure of poetry and prose booklet that could give satisfaction and joy to any thinking person who might be so fortunate as I have in receiving a copy. They should be in all book stores. Excellent for gift purposes.

Friday at 2:30 the Methuen Club will meet at the Tower Room of the Community Building. Mrs. Sanborn's Pupils Give Noteworthy Recital At Her Studio

An interesting group of teen age students gathered at the home studio of Mrs. Ruth E. Sanborn and played before an appreciative audience of parents Sunday. Mrs. Sanborn spoke briefly of the concert auditions sponsored by the National Federation of Women's Clubs that are held in every state in May for young people who are interested in carrying on the traditions of fine music. This vicinity was very well represented last year in Augusta and Portland. Much interest is in evidence for the next event. Acting as judges were Mrs. Fred Snow, counselor for the Junior Rubinstein Club and Miss Bertha M. Luce, who graciously concluded the program with a violin selection which was much enjoyed by everyone.
